Minister's Message

As Minister of State (Status of Women), I am pleased to present Status of Women Canada's Report on Plans and Priorities, 2010–2011.

In Canada, we have made commendable progress in advancing the status of women. In fact, last fall, Statistics Canada reported that in the first six months of 2009, women outnumbered men in the workforce for the first time at 50.9 per cent. Women are participating in our labour force and in our small-and-medium enterprises in record numbers and their contribution to Canada's bottom line is significant and still growing.

While we are proud of our achievements, the Government of Canada remains committed to closing the gender equality gaps in our society and to addressing the unique challenges women face, particularly those in marginalized situations. To this end, Status of Women Canada will continue to play a crucial role in advancing the Government's agenda for gender equality.

In 2010–2011, Status of Women Canada will continue to focus its efforts on three key areas: promoting women's economic security and prosperity; ending violence against women and girls; and encouraging women to assume leadership and decision-making roles. The agency will invest in innovative projects designed to empower women with the information, knowledge, skills and tools they need to assume leadership roles in Canadian public and private institutions. We will continue to work with partners in the public, private and non-profit sectors to advance women's economic security and prosperity. We also expect to achieve demonstrable results from the partnership projects launched in previous years.

We will continue to enhance the practice of gender-based analysis across all departments and agencies. To this end, a Gender-based Analysis Action Plan was tabled with the House of Commons Public Accounts Committee, thereby reinforcing the Government's commitment to promote this practice across its institutions.

The Government of Canada welcomes the recent initiative of the United Nations Secretary-General to prevent and eliminate violence against women and girls. Our support to the ground-breaking initiative, Uniting to End Violence against Women, further demonstrates our continued commitment to end all forms of violence against women. Violence against women remains a primary concern to Canadians and their government. Aboriginal women are among the most disadvantaged and vulnerable members of our society and we will continue to work with Aboriginal organizations and our partners to ensure the safety and security of all Aboriginal women.

I recently reported to the United Nations the progress Canada has made since 1995 in implementing the Beijing Platform for Action on the status of women. Our government will continue to work with our international partners to overcome the challenges to gender equality across the world.

In partnership with public, private and non-profit sector organizations, Status of Women Canada is prepared to support the Government in advancing equality for women and their full participation in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada.

The Honourable Helena Guergis, P.C., M.P.

Section I – Agency Overview

1.1 Summary Information

Raison d'être and responsibilities

In 1976, the Government of Canada established the Office of the Coordinator, Status of Women, with the mandate to coordinate policy with respect to the status of women and to administer related programs. The mandate of Status of Women Canada flows from policy authority, Order in Council 1976-779.

In fulfilling its mandate, Status of Women Canada (SWC) plays a key role in supporting the Government of Canada's agenda for equality for women and their full participation in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada. To play this role effectively, SWC works with partners such as federal departments and agencies, provincial/ territorial governments, private sector institutions and non-governmental organizations. The agency also works in collaboration with other players to help fulfill Canada's domestic and international obligations relating to equality for women.

The agency carries out two Program Activities designed to achieve concrete results. The first result is demonstrated through inclusive and effective policies that advance gender equality and address issues that affect women. This result is made possible through enhanced capacity of federal departments/agencies in integrating gender-based analysis (GBA) in their legislative proposals, policies, programs and initiatives. SWC also seeks to achieve results that are demonstrated by women who are equipped with information, knowledge, skills and tools to identify and address barriers that impede their full participation in society.

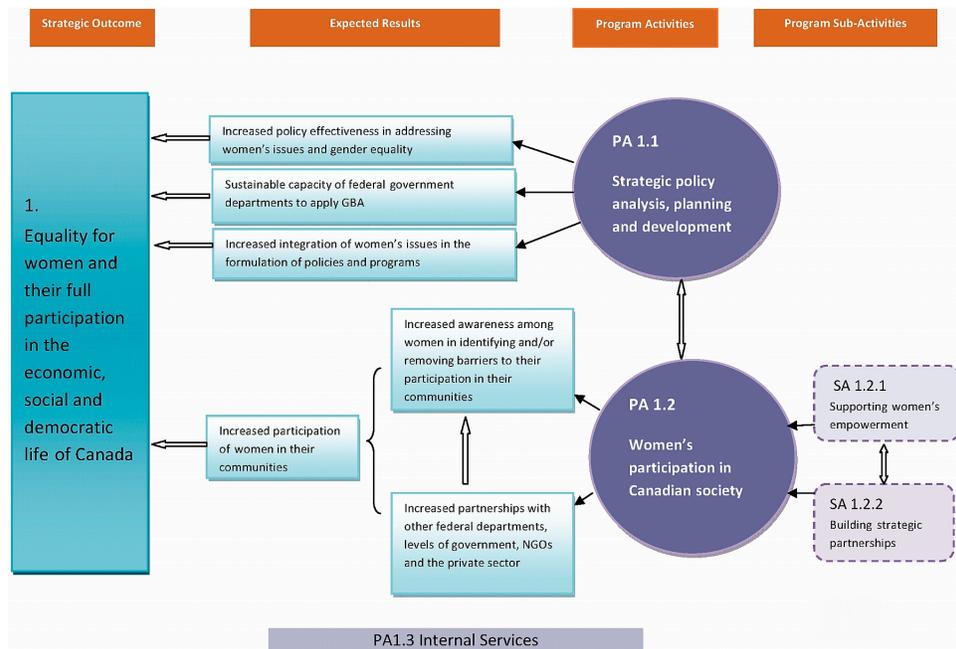

SWC's Governance structure shows that the Executive Committee is accountable for the efficient management of the agency, achievement of its expected results and continued progress toward the strategic outcome. The Executive Committee is supported by other teams that play advisory and operational roles.

The SWC head office is located in the National Capital Region. Regional offices are located in Montréal (serving Quebec and Nunavut), Moncton (serving New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and Labrador), Edmonton (serving Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia, the Northwest Territories and Yukon) and Ottawa (serving Ontario and national organizations) (<http://www.swc-cfc.gc.ca>).

1.2 Strategic Outcome and Program Activity Architecture (PAA)

In fulfilling its mandate, SWC seeks to achieve an enduring outcome for Canadians: equality for women and their full participation in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada. To assess progress toward this strategic outcome, SWC uses performance indicators that demonstrate the representation of women in the labour market, the representation of women in senior decision-making positions in the private and public sectors and women’s participation in political institutions.

In compliance with the Management, Resources and Results Structures (MRRS) Policy, SWC’s Program Activity Architecture (PAA) which is displayed below shows the agency’s strategic outcome, expected results, Program Activities and sub-activities. The PAA is the basic structure through which SWC carries out its two Program Activities, allocates and manages resources, and on which it bases its reporting and accountability responsibilities, including Estimates and Public Accounts. In 2010–2011, SWC will start the process to examine its PAA to ensure that it is consistent with the MRRS Policy.

Note 1: In 2010–2011, the decrease of $1 million in planned spending from 2009–2010 reflects the conclusion of the five-year Sisters in Spirit initiative on March 31, 2010. Also, an amount of $2 million was approved for re-profiling in Grants and Contributions from 2008–2009 to 2009–2010 ($1 million) and to 2010–2011 ($1 million) to ensure continued funding for new multi-year partnership agreements with organizations across the country.

1.4 Contribution of Priorities to Strategic Outcome

| Operational priorities  | Type                 | Links to strategic outcome  | Description   |
| Strengthen the implementation and use of GBA in the federal administration.   | Ongoing              | Equality for women and their full participation in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada | SWC, in collaboration with TBS and PCO, will continue to implement a GBA Action Plan to enhance the capacity of departments and agencies to integrate GBA in their legislative proposals, policies, programs and initiatives. At the same time, SWC will explore progressive integration of intersectionality.  |
| Strategies to end violence against women and girls, including Aboriginal women and girls.                                       | Ongoing              |   | SWC will continue supporting initiatives designed to address violence against women and girls, including Aboriginal women and girls.  |
| Financial and professional assistance for projects to address women's economic security and encourage women in leadership roles | Ongoing              |   | SWC will continue to invest strategically in projects, provide professional assistance to organizations and ensure accountability for results in order to provide women with opportunities to build their economic security and prosperity and to play active leadership roles.   |
| Management priorities   | Type                 | Links to strategic outcome  | Description   |
| Corporate Risk Profile  | Previously committed | Equality for women and their full participation in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada | SWC has identified three management priorities for 2010–2011. These priorities represent opportunities for improvement in those areas identified through the MAF Round VI assessment: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• SWC will continue to develop its corporate risk profile, thereby introducing one of the key elements of integrated risk management.</li> </ul> |
| Values and Ethics   | Previously committed |   | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• SWC will establish a Code of Conduct, thereby completing the work associated with its Values and Ethics Framework.</li> </ul>  |
| Audit and Evaluation  | New                  |   | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• SWC will strengthen its Audit and Evaluation Function and complete the Women's Program summative evaluation.</li> </ul>  |

1.5 Risk Analysis

Planning context

Canada remains among the world's stronger performers in advancing equality for women and men. In 2007, employment and participation rates for women aged 15 to 64 were the highest in the G7 and the sixth highest among OECD countries. In 2007, women earned 84 cents per hour for every dollar earned by men, up 2 per cent in five years. There is also a steady increase in women's representation in Canada's political institutions. At 29 per cent, our government has the highest representation of women in Cabinet than any government in the history of our nation.

The World Economic Forum's Global Gender Gap Index reported that Canada rose six spots in its annual global survey, moving ahead of the United States and leading the world in literacy rates, enrolment in primary and tertiary education, opportunity for professional and technical workers and economic participation. (<http://www.weforum.org>)

It is recognized, however, that gender equality gaps do remain in key areas and among certain groups of women in Canada. More women than men are involved in non-standard, precarious employment. This type of employment often provides no protection under labour codes or collective bargaining, offers little job security and presents limited opportunities for promotion.

The low participation of women in leadership and decision-making positions continues to limit Canada's standing in the area of gender equality. At 22 per cent, women's representation in Parliament is below the U.N.-recommended threshold of 30 per cent. Women remain under-represented in various occupational categories in Canada's private sector.

Violence against women and girls remains a major concern in Canada. According to Statistics Canada, spousal violence represented 12 per cent of all violent crimes reported to the police. Women continue to be the most likely victims, accounting for 83 per cent of victims of spousal violence.<sup>3</sup>

Operating environment

Opportunities

In 1995, following the UN Fourth World Conference on Women, the Government of Canada committed to implementing GBA in departments and agencies. In 2009, the Office of the Auditor General (OAG) conducted an audit of selected departments and agencies<sup>4</sup> to examine the extent to which this commitment is being implemented within the federal government. In May 2009, the OAG tabled its Spring Report, including the audit findings and recommendations on the application of GBA in federal institutions. The OAG recommendations include: clarifying GBA expectations, establishing an action plan, improving communications, analyzing GBA processes and documenting the challenge functions of central agencies.<sup>5</sup>

In response, SWC, in collaboration with the Privy Council Office and Treasury Board Secretariat, appeared before the Public Accounts Committee to table a joint Action Plan to implement the OAG recommendations. The implementation of the Action Plan represents an opportunity to create the capacity to apply or strengthen the application of GBA within federal organizations, thereby enabling departments and agencies to develop inclusive policies, programs and initiatives that respond to women's needs and advance gender equality.

Challenges

In 2008–2009, SWC participated in the Management Accountability Framework (MAF) Round VI assessment of departments and agencies. While SWC's performance in MAF Round VI was much improved, a number of areas were identified as opportunities for improvement, including: i) effective Corporate Risk Management, and ii) Values and Ethics.

SWC recognizes that the management challenges identified through the MAF assessment represent potential risks to its policy and program functions, can limit its ability to achieve the expected results and may affect progress toward its strategic outcome. As such, the agency is committed to enhancing its management capacity overall and to addressing the issues identified through the MAF assessment.

In 2010–2011, SWC will implement three management priorities, including areas identified through the MAF Round VI assessment: i) a Corporate Risk Profile; ii) a Code of Conduct and iii) SWC's Audit and Evaluation function will be strengthened and the summative evaluation of the Women's Program will be completed.

1.6 Expenditure Profile

In 2010–2011, SWC plans to spend $30.8 million. In 2008–2009, spending was the highest because of the re-profiled funding and additional resources obtained through Budget 2007.

Spending trend

For the period 2006–2007 to 2009–2010, the total spending included all Parliamentary appropriations: Main Estimates, Supplementary Estimates and Treasury Board Vote 10, 15 and 23. It also included carry forward adjustments.

For the period 2010–2011 to 2011–2012, the total spending corresponds to the planned spending. At this point, supplementary funding remains unknown, except for the funding to be transferred from the Department of Canadian Heritage for the Office of the Minister of State (Status of Women).

2010-11 Allocation of Funding by Program Activity

The figure above displays SWC's funding by Program Activity for 2010–2011. Most of SWC's funding is allocated to Program Activity 1.2: Women's participation in Canadian society, which includes funding to organizations for eligible projects.

Note 1: The 2010–2011 motor car allowance for the Minister of State (Status of Women) equals $2,000. The difference between the two fiscal years can be attributed to the transfer of funding from the Department of Canadian Heritage for the Office of the Minister of State (Status of Women) and additional funding for collective agreements.

Section II – Analysis of Program Activities by Strategic Outcome

Strategic Outcome: Equality for women and their full participation in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada.

SWC has a single strategic outcome that is supported by two Program Activities. The achievement of this long-term result is demonstrated by the extent to which women participate in the economic, social and democratic life of Canada. In assessing its progress toward the strategic outcome, SWC uses the following performance indicators: representation of women in the labour force, representation of women in senior decision-making positions and women's political participation.

2.1 Program Activity by Strategic Outcome

Program activity 1.1: Strategic policy analysis, planning and development

Human resources (FTEs), planned spending ($ millions) and expected results

| 2010–11 |                  | 2011–12 |                  | 2012–13 |                  |

| Program activity expected results   | Performance indicators <sup>6</sup>  | Targets                  |
|---|--|--------------------------|
| Increased policy effectiveness in addressing women's issues and gender equality     | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Number of departments that respond to women's issues effectively through policy/program formulation and implementation</li> </ul>         | 3–5 departments per year |
| Sustainable capacity of federal government departments to apply GBA                 | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Percentage of other government departments with increased capacity to incorporate GBA into their policy and program activities</li> </ul> | 3–5 departments per year |
| Increased integration of women's issues in the formulation of policies and programs | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Number of new and improved policies and programs that respond to women's issues</li> </ul>  | 3–5 policies per year    |

<sup>6</sup> SWC will examine its performance measurement strategy in order to modify the performance indicators and targets for the expected results of its two Program Activities.

Program activity summary

Program Activity 1.1 – Strategic policy analysis, planning and development involves policy analysis, advice, provision of training and development of tools to support departments and agencies in identifying policy priorities and in integrating GBA in existing or proposed policies, programs and initiatives. This is done through collaboration with other federal departments, provincial/territorial governments, civil society and key international partners.

Planning highlights

In 2010–2011, the following priorities will be carried out to achieve the expected results under this Program Activity:

GBA action plan:

SWC, in co-operation with the Privy Council Office and Treasury Board Secretariat, created a GBA Action Plan that was tabled with the House of Commons Public Accounts Committee on October 16, 2009. The Action Plan was developed to implement the OAG recommendations on the application of GBA in federal institution. It will serve as a tool to continue the government's efforts to enhance the practice and sustainability of GBA across all departments and agencies. The implementation of this Action Plan will be a key SWC priority for 2010–2011. Some of the key SWC planned activities include the following:

- SWC will work with central agencies to offer tools and training to those departments and agencies that require advice and assistance to improve the application of GBA to their policies and programs.
- SWC will monitor departments' progress by compiling the results of departmental self-assessments on both the effectiveness of GBA in the development of their policies and programs and on their GBA frameworks. This will provide SWC with valuable knowledge for sharing, including best practices and case studies.
- SWC will share the best practices to help departments and agencies in their efforts to address horizontal issues such as violence against women.
- SWC will be assessed through the MAF exercise of its GBA management as a horizontal initiative. On their part, departments will be expected to enhance their GBA practices through improved analysis; to sustain the practice by establishing departmental GBA frameworks; to conduct annual self-assessments to monitor progress and to report on their GBA practices through Reports on Plans and Priorities and Departmental Performance Reports.

Benefits for Canadians

This Program Activity contributes to the development of effective and inclusive policies, programs and initiatives that respond to women's needs and advance gender equality. This result enables federal departments and agencies to remain relevant and responsive to the needs of all Canadians, including women and girls. The result is achieved through enhanced capacity among federal and other organizations to apply GBA in their decision-making processes, including the development of policies, programs and initiatives as well as in resource allocation. Through this result, SWC contributes to the Government of Canada outcome, Government Affairs.

Program activity summary

Program Activity 1.2 – Women's participation in Canadian society provides funding and professional assistance in support of projects that address women's economic and social situations and their engagement in democratic life. It also develops strategic partnerships and leverages resources. Through this activity, SWC seeks to achieve results that demonstrate increased participation of women in their communities.

Planning highlights

In 2010–2011, SWC will continue to provide financial and professional assistance to projects in three key areas: women's economic security and prosperity; violence against women and girls; and women in leadership and decision-making roles.

Strategies to deal with violence against women and girls:

To build on the results achieved through the Sisters in Spirit initiative and other projects, SWC will continue to work with key federal partners and other organizations to address violence against women, including sexualized and racialized violence against Aboriginal women and girls.

Financial and professional assistance:

Strategic Investment: SWC will determine its 2010–2011 funding priorities so that its grants and contributions are invested where the need is the greatest and ensuring that its investment brings about meaningful changes to women's lives.

SWC will continue to engage Canadians in the efforts to advance equality for women through local, regional and national projects that address issues that affect women. SWC will develop and/or strengthen partnerships with organizations in the public, private and non-profit sectors, so that they may play a role in facilitating the full participation of women in Canadian society.

Professional Assistance: SWC will provide the necessary assistance to potential applicant organizations to enhance their capacity to develop projects and prepare funding requests that meet SWC's requirements and are aligned with its funding priorities.

The agency will also facilitate networking among groups and help organizations access resources, tools and materials that enable them to work more effectively.

Accountability: As part of the government-wide Transfer Payment Policy reform, SWC will continue to streamline the management and administration of the Women's Program. In preparing for renewal of the Women's Program Terms and Conditions, SWC will complete the summative evaluation of the Women's Program.

Benefits for Canadians

This Program Activity, with its focus on funding and professional assistance, is designed to achieve results that demonstrate women's empowerment through the provision of information, knowledge, skills and tools. It is designed such that, equipped with knowledge and skills, women will be able to identify and remove barriers to their participation in their communities. This Program Activity is also designed to build or strengthen partnerships between SWC and other organizations in the public, private and non-profit sectors, thereby providing Canadians with the opportunity to help advance the full participation of women in society. This Program Activity contributes to the Government of Canada outcome, Economic Affairs.

Program activity 1.3: Internal Services

Program activity summary

Internal Services are groups of related activities and resources that are administered to support the needs of programs and other corporate obligations of an organization. SWC's 47 FTEs within Internal Services are fully or partially dedicated to the two Program Activities, providing relevant services associated with the agency's Program or Policy functions. Internal Services include: Management and Oversight Services; Communications Services; Legal Services; HR Management Services; Financial Management Services; Information Management Services; IT Services; Strategic Planning and Reporting Services, Audit and Evaluation Services, Cabinet/Parliamentary Affairs Services, Real Property Services; Materiel Services; Acquisition Services; Travel, Administrative Services and services to the Office of the Minister of State (Status of Women).

Planning highlights

In 2010–2011, SWC will take specific measures to address management issues, including areas identified through the MAF Round VI assessment. As such, the agency has identified the following as its management priorities for the next fiscal year: i) development of a corporate risk profile; ii) development of a Code of Conduct, and iii) Audit and Evaluation function and the completion of the Women's Program summative evaluation.

In 2010–2011, SWC will also develop an Integrated Business Plan, ensuring that Internal Services continue to support the needs and capacity of the agency to deliver on its commitments. The Integrated Business Plan will help ensure that financial/HR/communications requirements are planned against key priorities and that basic IM/IT infrastructure supports business requirements. Also, active HR planning will be a key activity to respond to the changing priorities and attrition in the agency (as measured by the Departmental Staffing Assessment Report).

Future-oriented expenses

The chart outlines the department's future-oriented total expenses for 2010–2011. In 2010–2011, total expenses are projected to be $32.3 million. Most of these expenses will be transfers to Canadian organizations (62% or $19.95M) via the Women's Community and Women's Partnership Funds for projects that advance equality for women across Canada.

Total projected expenses differ from planned spending presented earlier in this document as projected expenses include accruals ($0.1M) and services received without charge from other Government departments ($1.4M).
